

WE NOMINATE

James Alfred Perkins, an energetic, public-spirited Princetonian and one of this country's tough-minded educators, who this week was tapped for a top spot in American education — the presidency of Cornell University, the youngest of the eight Ivy League institutions, and often described as "the easternmost of the 'Big Ten'." From the prestigious quiet of the Carnegie Corporation in New York and the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching, the 51-year old Perkins has been summoned to Ithaca, effective July 1, as successor to retiring Deane W. Malott and as seventh president of the remarkable university founded by Ezra Cornell in 1865.

It is the consensus of educational leaders that the Cornell Trustees, headed by Ambassador Arthur H. Dean, have rolled a ten-strike in persuading Perkins to direct this highly complex institution which has some 12,000 students, draws 30% of its support from government sources, and sustains an annual operating budget of over $100 million (more than twice the size of Princeton University's). Behind Perkins stretch long years of experience as teacher and scholar, as college administrator and foundation executive, as public servant and consultant to government, and as a member (1953-1959) of Princeton Township's School Board.

A high honors graduate of Swarthmore with the Class of 1934, the Philadelphia-born Perkins completed his advanced training as a political scientist here at the University and, from 1937 until 1941, served as a member of the Princeton Faculty, first as an instructor and then as assistant director of the Woodrow Wilson School of Public Affairs. After compiling a distinguished World War II record with Federal agencies, including the Foreign Economic Administration, he moved on to the vice-presidency of Swarthmore, continuing until 1950 when he joined the Carnegie Corporation.

His elevation to the vice-presidencies of the Corporation and Foundation followed in 1951 and 1951, respectively.

Perkins, whose wife, the former Jean I. Bredin, is the able chairman of the Friends of the Joint Free Public Library of Princeton, has been identified over the years with a near-incredible number of government committees, educational boards and private research projects, ranging from the 12-member Joint Borough-Township Committee on Municipal Operations to the chairmanship of President Kennedy's Advisory Panel on a "National Academy of Foreign Affairs." Among his continuing affiliations are the General Advisory Committee of the U.S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency, the U.S. Commission for UNESCO and the Board of Trustees of the Rand Corporation.

A driving force in the drafting of the "Consolidation Referendum" of 1951-52, which a decade ago was hysterically rejected by Borough and Township electorates, Perkins played a key role in the founding of the Council on Higher Education in the American Republics and chaired the committee that produced one of the best-known Rockefeller Panel Reports, "The Power of the Democratic Idea." Using this compelling, internationally-distributed report as a base-point, Perkins and two of the nation's top-notch social scientists, Pendleton Herring and Charles Frankel, are carrying forward the project with on-going studies of democratic growth in the emerging nations.

For carrying to Cornell "an almost unmatched experience with national perspectives, as well as a deep understanding of the massive problems confronting higher education"; for his capacity for being "at once sound and lively"; for his major contributions to this, his adopted community; he is TOWN TOPICS' nominee as

THE CHANGING SCENE

In Heart of Princeton.

Princeton residents, accustomed to change in recent years, learned this week of several developments that will affect the appearance and the life of mid-town Princeton.

Trustees of the Joint Free Public Library of Princeton announced that, by unanimous vote, they would recommend the Witherspoon-Wiggins corner, now a public parking lot,
as the site for a new Public Library building.

The recommendation will be sent to Borough Council and Township Committee.

Since this would eliminate a considerable number of parking space, the trustees
will also recommend the acquisition of the Lahiere-Kane automobile agency property at the corner of Spring and Tulane for public parking space.

Bainbridge House, now the home of the public library,
would revert to the University,
which now leases it on a dollar-a-year basis.

Kane to Buy Elsewhere. "If the library recommendation is carried out," said Herbert R.
Kane, president of Lahiere-Kane, Inc., "we will seek new

Free Public Library. Cross-hatching indicates the Lahiere-and larger quarters. Relocation will permit our firm to obtain desirable space needed to display used cars and give our service departments more space."

The trustees do not say exactly how much of the Wiggins-Witherspoon parking lot the new building would occupy.
This depends, in part, on how many spaces could be blocked out on the Lahiere-Kane plot, which is about 20, 000 square feet, so that the community would not lose parking places.

The Borough and Township
presumably will share the expense, probably through a bond issue. Costs would be apportioned according to the present formula for sharing library expenses, which is based on use of the library by Township and Borough residents.

The Borough itself would probably buy the Lahiere-Kane property as a replacement for the parking lot. Then, the parking lot property could be legally conveyed from the Borough, now its owner, to the Borough and Township together. The Township could then pay its share in these transactions.

No specific costs were mentioned in the library announcement. The Lahiere-Kane property has an assessed value of $43,760.

The Long Look. In their search for a library site, trustees considered 23 locations, 12 in detail. They also conferred with library experts and consulted their citizens' advisory committee.

The perilous state of the present public library building has brought it to the brink of major repair. The library will be closed at 6 p.m. this Saturday and will remain shut for the rest of the month while workmen install steel columns to re-inforce the 18th century structure.

The book slot will remain open, and telephone reference service will be supplied while the building is closed.

Nassau Property Sold. The property at 38 Nassau, occupied by Honors Barber Shop and 40 Nassau, formerly occupied by Langrock's, has been purchased by Jackson Martindell of 132 Elm Road for an undisclosed figure.

"I bought the building because it was an outrage to have it standing there, a potential urban slum," Mr. Martindell said. He and his firm, Management Audit Co., Inc., have definite plans for the property
but are not quite ready to reveal them, Mr. Martindell said.

The three-story building has a 32-foot frontage on Nassau Street and goes back 126 feet.
About 6,000 square feet are located in the building's three stories. In addition to the barber shop and the vacant former store, the property includes John's Store Repair, on John Street.

Mr. Martindell, who took title on January 2, purchased the property from the estate of Joseph Sippley, Princeton businessmen often use the rough figure of $2,000 a front foot for Nassau Street property which would bring the price to about $65,000.

Mr. Martindell also said that he has leased from Alexander Morgan the 28 acres behind the Martindell house on Elm Road on a 10-year basis.

"I plan to make it into a meadow," Mr. Martindell said.
The land lies partly in the Borough and partly in the Township, and Mr. Martindell said that he would like to buy it some day and turn it over to the municipalities to keep as open space.

New Jersey may have a percent sales tax within the next few months. If Gov. Hughes follows a recommendation of the State Tax Policy Commission, his decision is expected on January 28, and thereafter the final act would be sent to the Legislature. Exempted would be all food items and prescription drugs, but virtually all else sold at the retail level would be affected. Approximately $160 to $180 million annually would be raised through the state's first broad-based tax, and another proposal would triple corporate taxes in New Jersey, raising them from 1.75 to 5 percent.

More babies were born at Princeton Hospital during 1962 than in any previous year, and the total of 1,072 topped the former record of 1,069, set three years ago, and was 22 more than the number of new arrivals in 1961.

To Move Shop On Palmer Square, Miss Helen Saller, owner of The Joan Shop, a women's specialty dress shop, announced that she was going out of business at that location.

"I will find a new location," she said, "but I am not even ready to consider where it might be." Miss Saller owned a shop on Palmer Square for 18 years, and has been in her present location for four.

She said that parking problems for customers and lack of room to expand were her chief reasons for moving.

Meantime, Princeton waited for news that an old and famous institution, The Ball Restaurant, was finally due to close. The building it has occupied at 80-84 Nassau Street for almost four decades has been up for sale for several months and it was indicated this week that an announcement of final sale is imminent.

ONE-CENT SALE

Everybody Collects Stamps. "I never saw a change-over like this one," said Samuel Copner, assistant postmaster of the Princeton post-office. Monday as he watched lines of one-cent stamp collectors converging on the four postage wickets.

Although the change from four to five-cent first class mail was announced in the fall, Princeton letter-writers apparently waited until the last minute — and after — to pick up the one-cent stamps necessary to make those old four-cent envelopes legal.

"Some people came in here Monday morning asking for 1,000 one-cent stamps," Mr. Copner said on Tuesday. "We started early to ration them out, and we were selling out by 25 to a customer most of the day."

Mr. Copner and Charles Murray, the postmaster, had stockpiled what they thought would be enough, but three weeks ago, they began to suspect what would occur Monday and ordered 150,000 additional one-cent stamps.

Tuesday morning, 50,000 of these arrived. The rest are not here, apparently caught in a backlog of orders at the Bureau of Engraving.

Mr. Copner attributes the rush to Christmas. "People were so busy with Christmas mailing they forgot about the January 7 deadline," he says. In the first mail collections Monday morning, about half the letters were short the necessary one cent, Mr. Copner said. By noon Monday, only about 10 percent were short. Although the legal deadline was midnight Sunday, any letter mailed after the final Sunday afternoon pick-up required the new five-cent postage.

WATER: EXPERTS REPORT
And Residents Speak. There are three new developments in the proposed sale of the Princeton Water Company.

On Thursday, 12 Princeton residents attended the second Public Utilities Commission hearing on the proposal of Elizabethtown Water to purchase controlling interest in the Princeton Water Company. Early this week, the Princeton Water Company released the recommendations of Buck, Siefert and Jost, the engineering firm retained to study the company. And Mayor Henry Patterson announced at his Tuesday press conference that the Princeton Water Company was scheduled to elect him, president of Elizabethtown, to posts on the company's board of directors. Mr. Patterson is executive vice-president of Elizabethtown.

Of this amount, they suggest an expenditure of $434,000 for the immediate improvement of wells, transmission mains and filtering equipment; $318,000 to increase the filtering plant capacity by one million gallons per day and to add transmission mains and storage reservoirs.

The firm's report states that present earnings ($31,000 in 1961) could not possibly finance the program and that rate increases would be required.

What to Do. Items suggested for immediate action include a testing and rehabilitation program for existing well supplies; sharing Bamberger's well so that water used for air-conditioning could be added to the company's supplies; improving filter plant capacity; installing telemetering devices on water tanks and spending $294,000 for new transmission mains.

On a longer range basis, the report suggests exploratory work on new sources of underground supply, and an even greater expansion of the filter plant which has, in the words of the report, "certain deficiencies which should be corrected."

Residents Speak. At Thursday's hearing, Miss Esther Dilworth, Shaw Livermore, Robert van de Velde (all former Democratic candidates for Borough Council); Charles Far-ington and Edward Sweeney, Mercer County Assemblymen, and John F. McCarthy, asked the P.U.C. representative, Leigh Hartshorn, for a 60-90 day delay in the decision on the sale of the water company.

They requested the delay so that the Borough could consider acquiring ownership of the Princeton Water Company. Mr. McCarthy repeated his views urging a study of municipal ownership in a statement which he read Tuesday night at Borough Council.

The P.U.C. was scheduled to meet late this week on the Princeton water question, but there has been no indication when a decision would be made. However, toward the end of Thursday's hearing, Mr. Hartshorn exclaimed, after listening to a recount of the Princeton Water Company's problems, "How is Princeton going to manage if this company (Elizabethtown) doesn't take over!"

Ask More Time. Those who spoke at the hearing referred to the suddenness of Elizabethtown's announcement that it had agreed to buy control of the company. Mr. Farrington said he thought that the time between the public announcement and the first hearing was too short. "The situation screams for public ownership," Mr. Farrington said, adding that in his opinion, tax savings and reduced rates would be the results of public ownership.

Miss Dilworth asked that "all reasonable alternatives be explored" before P.U.C. approval of the sale, and said that when Borough officials had inquired about the possibility of buying the Princeton Water Company, they were told by the University that the company was not for sale.

Ricardo Mestres, treasurer of the University, sent to Borough and Township governing bodies this week a statement of the University's position. It appears in "Mailbox," page 14.)

Mr. Livermore said he thought Princeton residents should be told what the rate structure would be so that they could compare public and private rates.

Robert W. Kean, Jr. president of Elizabethtown, said he did not believe it would have been in the public interest to publicize his negotiations with the University while they were in progress. He explained the short interval between the announcement and the first public hearing by saying that the company wanted to begin work as soon as possible so that there would be ample water by hot weather.

Facts brought out at the hearing: the University owns 1,722 shares of Princeton Water Company stock and Princeton Theological Seminary 1,080. Current sale price is $102.54 a share. Mayor Henry Patterson owns 360 shares out of the 762,325 that are outstanding. Negotiations between Elizabethtown and the University began October 4, 1962. The company will pay cash for the University-Seminary stock as soon as P.U.C. gives its approval and does not contemplate any stock sale. . . money to finance expansion of the Princeton Water Company would come from short-term bank loans, or di-

SCHOOL BUDGET UP

To Raise Taxes 37 Points.
 The Borough Board of Education has announced a budget of $1,859,329 for the school year beginning next September. A public hearing is set for 7 p.m. Tuesday, January 22, at the high school.

The new budget, a whopping $1.1 million more than school costs ten years ago, shows a great increase of nearly a quarter of a million over current expenditures. The added $223,403 needed for next year largely reflects the increased teacher salary scale approved several months ago, as well as pay raises for the secretarial and custodial staffs.

Tuition rates for high school students from the sending districts will be $690 per student, an increase of $480 per student. The Board expects a yield of $950,180 in tuition fees.

State and federal funds will amount to approximately $67,500, and $12,000 is the estimated receipts from balances.

Six More Teachers. The net amount to be raised by the Borough for the school year 1963-64 will be $828,649.61, a net increase of $79,608.04 over the current, 1962-63, costs. Preliminary estimates by the board indicate that the Borough tax rate for school purposes "should not increase more than 33 points."

The school board plans to add six high school teachers. Five will be added because of increased enrollment; the sixth will teach the planned class for retarded children of high school age.

Other plans mirrored in the proposed budget include repair and resurfacing of the tennis courts to provide better facilities for the physical education and community use; improvement of the girls' locker room, as well as needed repairs.

Additional funds are budgeted as part three of the board's five-year plan for library improvement. Additional students reflect the need for increased funds in textbooks and supplies. Money has also been allocated for data processing service for the high school.

The Borough school system serves 2,543 pupils, including 1,545 in the high school and 978 in the elementary schools. Of the approximately 200 employees, 134 are teachers.

A public referendum on the proposed budget, as well as election for the three vacant seats on the Board of Education will be held on Wednesday, February 13.

BUDGET STUDIED

By Township Residents. A seven-page explanation of the Township's first two-million-dollar school budget will be distributed this week to every home in the municipality for examination and study before the February 13 election date. Public hearing on the budget will be held next Thursday at 8 in the Community Park school library.

Copies of the report will also be available at the schools, and there is one in the Princeton Public Library.

The $2,003,939 budget, 18.2 percent more than last year, will mean an increase in the school tax rate, the report points out. Ratebates in the Township increased 5 percent in 1962, which helps some, but not enough. The school tax rate is now $15.47 for each $1,000 assessed property valuation. The new budget will raise that by $2.51 per thousand to $17.98.

The "Why" of More. The Board of Education gives four reasons for the budget increase: more pupils in the schools (a 10 percent jump is anticipated); the new salary schedules adopted in conjunction with the Borough Board of Education; higher tuition for Township students attending Princeton High and plans for strengthening the Township curriculum.

At the time the report to the taxpayers was prepared, the Township Board had not yet received from the Borough a detailed explanation of reasons for raising the high school tuition from $255 to $690 per pupil. This information has since been received.

In its communication, the Borough Board says that 37 percent of the increase is due to the new salary schedule for teachers, followed by increased enrollment and the establishment of a high school class for educable children (17 1/2 percent) and by the need to make repairs in the high school building (14 1/2 percent). These include improvements in the girls' locker room, surfacing of the tennis courts and the application of anti-skid material to the stairs.

"This is really a very reasonable tuition rate," commented Dr. John McKeown, superintendent of schools, at a press conference held to explain the new budget. Richard Pearson, Board chairman, added that the Board was completely satisfied.

Since 1951-52, the Borough has charged its sending districts less than the legally-lowed per pupil cost, the Board explained. If the Borough did charge on this basis, the tuition could be as high as $740. The estimated per-pupil Borough cost.

BOROUGH TO FIELD FOUR

In School Board Race, Edward G. Hofersang of 20 Forrester Drive, a member of the Planning Board, has appeared as a fourth candidate in the contest for the three seats on the school board.

Mr. Hofersang is an administrative analyst in the New Jersey Bureau of the Budget. He has two children in the Nassau Street School and is a member of the P.T.A. A graduate of Montclair State Teachers' College, he received a master's degree in government administration from the University of Pennsylvania.

Heat Drives Feet Balm

*I thought I'd write
 About the cold
 But rhymes like that
 Are pretty odd
 And after all,
 You just can't beat
 A four-line verse
 About the heat.
 However, since the Month is Jan.,
 I'll have to do
 The best I can
 And wait until
 A breeze in May
 Blows warmer verses Down my way.*

—LOOK A HEAD

The current mild spell has been particularly welcome after the frigid blasts that ushered 1963 into the world. It is, of course, a case of enjoying the heat while you can—a temperature drop is inevitably just around the corner. Friday is scheduled to be the coldest, and Saturday . . . possibly snow.

News Of The THEATRES

WHY'S AFRAID?
Actors May Return. Theatregoers who are apprehensive about missing Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf? have been asked by McCarter Theatre to send in their names for inclusion on a waiting list. Negotiations are now under way for a return engagement by the matinee company, and names on the McCarter waiting list will be notified of possible future
dates in Princeton.

The matinee company will come to McCarter this Friday for a one-night stand. The S.R.O. sign is out, and has been for some time; in fact, McCarter was shown under by requests for tickets ever since the appearance was announced
three weeks ago.

Edward Albee's play will be given in Princeton by the matinee company of the New York production. In an unusual departure from theatrical custom,
"Who's Afraid?" has two companies, one of which takes on the matinee assignment. The play is considered too taxing for actors to play twice in one day.

According to the McCarter
management, a Broadway company will be here before appearing elsewhere while still playing in New York, and theatre managers generally are watching the Princeton experiment with considerable interest.

Those who wish to be placed on the waiting list may write to McCarter at Box 326, Princeton.

OLD AND NEW
Ballet Will Dance Both. A varied program combining new works with traditional ballets will be presented in McCarter on Friday, January 25, when
the American Ballet Theatre
appears in Princeton in a special benefit performance.

The company's appearance
will benefit a projected Princeton Regional Ballet which would provide for young dancers
in the area the opportunity to acquire semi-professional experience and to advance to ward professional careers in the dance.

For its Princeton program,
the American Ballet Theatre
has chosen the suite, "Princess Aurore" from Tchaikovsky's
"Sleeping Beauty" ballet; "The Combat," William Doller's
modern work; "Les Patineurs," portraying a skating party, and
"Theme and Variations," choreographed by George Balanchine.
It is possible that a choice
may be made between "The Combat" or "Les Patineurs."

The McCarter appearance,
sponsored by the Princeton Ballet Society, is the first of the American Ballet Theatre's
current tour of more than 60 cities, coast to coast. The 25-year-old group has performed in 37 countries on four continents, including the Soviet Union in the fall of 1960. Russian critics accorded the group
high critical acclaim.

Tickets are on sale in the McCarter Theatre box office.

COSACK CHIEF: Yul Brynner plays the vengeful head of a Cosack tribe in "Taras Bulba" coming to the Prince and the Playhouse next Wednesday.

permit him to be his own man. This strange pair accidentally find happiness with each other, and encounter a mountain of human problems. The dialogue is witty and the situations at once amusing and pathetic. Comment: a sophisticated comedy, skillfully played.

Taras Bulba (opens next Wednesday at both theatres) is a big, colorful pageant of 16th Century Cosacks. There are clashes of splendidly mounted men, a siege of a turreted town and daring tests of horsemanship.

Yul Brynner plays the title role of the Cosack chief, a victim of Polish treachery who has pledged his life to vengeance. Tony Curtis is the more aggressive of his two sons, who makes the fatal error of falling in love with a beautiful Polish girl, played by Christine Kaufmann.

There are moments of high excitement as the awashbuckling Cosacks, superbly at home in the saddle, roam the steppes in search of battle, or loot, or freedom from the Poles. There are also scenes of almost sadistic cruelty and inhuman punishment. The movie, filmed on the vast plains of Argentina, which resemble the steppes of the Ukraine, is based on the book by Nikolai Gogol. Comment: a rough and hardy lot.

GARDEN

The Loneliness of the Long Distance Runner (now playing) The new British school of realism to film-making, which began about four years ago with "Room At The Top," continues with this picture. The plot deals with the working class, centering around an 18-year-old sium lad who is sent to reform school after robbing a bakery. The warden discovers he has a talent as a long-distance runner and grooms him to win a race which will reflect credit on the institution.

In flashbacks, introduced as reveries of the young runner, his past life is revealed; the painful death of his father; his foolish mother, and his romance with a school girl. The film contains some subtle character observation and satiric comment on life in England under the Welfare State. The writer, Alan Sillitoe, is most biting (and funny) in showing up the pomposity of some go-gooders. Comment: rough edges and sensitivity.

FILM SCHEDULED

On Deep Sea Treasures. A color motion picture entitled "3000 Years Under the Sea" will be shown at the YMCA Monday, January 28. The film deals with the discovery of underwater treasures in the Aegean Sea and was made by Stanton Waterman, a diving photographer and explorer.

Mr. Waterman, who narrates the film, photographed the exploits of an American diving expedition during the summer of 1959. The divers discovered a wrecked cargo ship which had carried copper and bronze during the late Bronze Age.

Some 3000 years ago, the ship met disaster on the remote southeastern coast of Asia Minor and sank 100 feet into the Aegean Sea. Considered to be the oldest shipwreck ever found, the discovery was the subject of a "National Geographic" article in May 1960.

In another sequence, the camera recorded a 230-foot descent to the site of the wreck of a modern Greek warship. Tickets for the program are available through the Y Scuba Club which is sponsoring the film.

RELAX, KID, RELAX
Things Are Shaping Up. The other day, we served ourselves up a la carte, to the strong and capable ministrations of the Swedish Massage Studio at 130 Nassau and we now feel ready to take all of 1963 with equanimity—and a few return visits.

The studio, now beginning its 30th year in Princeton, consists of a husband and wife, Otto and Elna Heiden. Although the Heidens have a roller-massage machine to smite both hip and thigh, and a hip-reducing contraption that looks like an old-fashioned hoop skirt frame, and a cabinet for people who like to perspire, they use chiefly their own trained hands to achieve the results you want.

Massage treatments are based on the fact that fat is delicate and breaks down under kneading and pressure. Regular massage, therefore, breaks up fatty bulges and compresses fat so that it is firm under the skin and not just a mess of floating blubber. In the process, of course, the skilled masseur stimulates the circulation and increases skin tone, relaxes knotted muscles and gives to the sedentary, desk-bound modern some really first-rate exercise.

We emphasize these last re-

No Fingerprints!
Next time you put a wall, include Resistain in your plans. Wallpapers of Princeton, the shop on Nassau between Chestnut and Moore, is full of praise and demonstration, and so will you be.

Resistain is not something you just flip on with a spray can. It is a process which you order when you order your wallpaper. The paper is sent to a factory for processing, and when it comes back, you can write love-letters in lipstick all over it, and wipe them right off. Resistain does not alter the appearance of the paper.

marks because some people think that massage is only for fatties who want to lose their hips. This just isn't so. Mrs. Heiden has customers who come to her after a long, cramped plane ride, to be put back in shape again. Mr. Heiden has busy professors and businessmen who want to be unkninked.

The massage treatment is gentle for beginners, increasingly vigorous for those who are accustomed to it. In fact, the Heidens can pummel and knead you as mildly or as toughly as you like.

It is a thorough and totally relaxing treatment, with some perfectly splendid fingerwork in the neck and shoulder area and along the spine. Mrs. Heiden even massages your fingertips (she once cured a student of writer's cramp through massage) and works her strong thumb so ingratiatingly into the arch of your foot that you begin to purr like a kitten.

Within the Swedish Massage Studio, there is complete privacy, due to the arrangement of treatment and waiting rooms. Your best friend could be across the hall and you would never encounter her coming or going. The studio is pleasant and home-like, cheerful and relaxing. Relaxing! We'll bet you fall asleep the minute you get home. Hours are 9 to 6 Monday through Friday and from 9 to noon on Saturday; however, appointments may be made for after-hours treatments. The telephone is WA 4-2167.

ANTIQUE VINYL
Good On Any Wall. The solid, pure vinyl wallpaper—as opposed to the vinyl-treated paper—is usually thought of by most housewives as white with green shells and you hang it in the bathroom.

Now Van Luit has come forth with a pure vinyl collection that matches anything you can find in the hand-painted line. Wallpapers of Princeton, on Nassau at the head of Olden, has Van Luit's impressive collection.

Here you'll find a 16th century Chinese damask with a lion-hunting motif, and a design taken from an antique Japanese kimono, featuring chrysanthemums against a shimmering half-metallic ground. There is an amusing little swag design in black on white and several marble papers. All of these, right down to that Chinese damask, can be washed, scrubbed, sand-blasted if need be, without disturbing their serene, unruined good nature.

On the hand-printed side (we're back with real paper now), Wallpapers has Old Stone Mill's traditional prints, any of which would be charming in a Princeton home with old pine or cherry. Some of Liechold and Wallach's hand-printed items from the early 18th century. You'll be especially delighted with "Excursions," an adventure in 19th century transportation that would be great fun in a child's room.

A bright, primary border of Swedish horses is a strong 18 inches deep. "Swiss Navy" is a delicious bit of tomfoolery, showing a ferocious little galleon entirely surrounded by a solid block of medieval houses.

Greiff uses real flocking in gold on gold or black on white for the most spectacular papers you ever saw. (How to clean flocking? Vacuum it.) All Greiff's are hard, although the circle of flowers in "Indis Wreath" has a certain delicacy.

Stowell's "Manor Farm" is a list of herbs and their allied vegetables, all in columns. If the door jamb intervenes, you may never find out what to cook with fennel.

Schumacher, of course, has fine traditional prints, in fruits, flowers and marbles. Ask to see the book of papers from England and marvel at the truly English look of roses against cream.

TICKETS, PLEASE

But Wardrobe Comes First. Tanner is always ready to send you oil, and this year he does so with sleeveless, round-colored blouses in a light-hearted spatter of patterns. Look at the baby tigers, the racing zebras, the wild geese, pandas, penguins and swinging monkeys, all distributed with random fancy against a solid ground. Mayme Mead keeps the zoo.

Arnel, silk and linen are the cruise fabrics at Mayme Mead's shop, starting with an arnel in blue and white verticle stripes, marked off at the skirt edge with the same stripes laid horizontally.

A lemon linen is piped in white and a white silk shantung is piped with a regal royal blue. Chantreaux linen is blocked out with narrow strips of white tape that make an all-over checker-board.

One of the most spectacular is Tanner's silk print with royal and red flowers the size of giant hibiscus blooms, rampant against a white ground. (How light in weight the silk is!)

Another silk print is a tropical-looking thing with lime green for a home base. Around

POE ISSUES REPORT

His Last as Bank President. John P. Poe released his annual message as president to the shareholders of the First National Bank this week. He will retire this Thursday, continuing as a consultant and a member of the board of directors.

When he became president of the institution in 1941, capital funds were under $700,000 and deposits totaled $50,000. Today, the respective figures are $2,363,236.64 and $42,885,423.08. A five-year progress report appears on pages 20 and 21.

Mr. Poe cited the increase of capital funds during the past year by 2000 shares at $300 a share, both as loans to shareholders and as stock dividend. Deposits loans and investment all expanded in 1962, with resources totaling $462,687,180.08.

Goodbye, Morvov?

"We are trying to fight it along," said Governor Richard Hughes the other day when a reporter asked during a press conference about life in "Morvov."

"There's a great problem," the Governor continued, adding that logistics was one of them. He said that he and Mrs. Hughes had trouble getting domestic help among other things, and that they were seriously thinking about closing the executive mansion and returning to Trenton to live.

"We haven't reached that point yet," he said, "we are trying to fight it along. For instance, the other day I turned on the cold water tap and there was no water. I don't know whether it was the Princeton water-works or some pipe broken, but it's a little headache."

Things like this seem to multiply in this somewhat old, but very beautiful house."

Higher interest. Interest on savings certificates was raised to 4 percent compounded quarterly last year, an investments made by the bank earned more. In addition, tax-exempt investments were doubled.

Valuation reserves against possible losses on loans were increased to $376,363.92, the maximum permitted by the Department of Internal Revenue.

New Building. The First National opened Princeton's first drive-in bank in December at 370 Nassau Street, and acquired property on Witherspoon Street behind the main office at 90 Nassau. The lot at the corner of Nassau and Riverside Drive was sold at a profit.

For the automated technology in the process of development, with duplicate records of transactions stored away from the bank.

Mr. Poe expressed "our appreciation for the support given by our directors and staff which alone made possible the results we have achieved." He paid tribute to Lloyd Van Selzer and John B. McKallen, who died during 1962, and to Harold Hunkeler who resigned from the Board of Directors.

Mr. Poe closed his statement: "I have tried to serve you to the best of my ability through years of stress and economic change and I appreciate the unfailing cooperation I have had from you. I bespeak for my successor the same support you have always given to me."

WEATHER REPORT

1962 Was Cool, Wet, Sunny. In the past quarter-century, only one year (1939) has produced a lower average temperature than the 12-month period just ended. In 1962, the average for this area was 52.7°.

And, despite the fact that total precipitation was about four inches above normal, the sun also shone with considerable frequency. Rainfall and melted snow measured about 48 inches, but the sun was out 66 percent of the total hours it spent above the horizon. The norm in the latter case is 59 percent—considered high in comparison to many parts of the nation.

It was not until the last ten days of the year that the largest snowfall was recorded—four inches on December 21 and 22. Nine falls of an inch or more helped raise the total slightly above normal for the year.

February 11 was the coldest day officially recorded as zero by the U. S. Weather Bureau in Trenton and as six below by the Stony Brook-Milbrook Watershed Association in rural Mercer County. The year bowed out with a reading of one above on December 31. Helping to make the year a cold one were 26 days with more than normal when the temperature never got above freezing.

On the sultry side, the highest reading was not in the summer but mid-spring. It was 96 on May 19. The temperature topped 90 only two times all year—in contrast to a normal of 18 such days. As a result, the 23 thunderstorms were fewer than the average.

All-time high in this area in the past 70 years: 100 in July, 1936; all-time low, 14 below in February, 1834.

There have been quite a few people who have seen this coming and

mission to the Borough Council.
Chairman Dodge appointed a sub-committee to speed up deliberations over the proposed revisions in the master plan. Arthur P. Morgan, Alan W. Carriek, the Council representative on the Board; Mr.
Moore and Mr. Dodge will meet monthly with the planning consultant, Francis D.
McHugh. July is mentioned as the target date for completing the revised plan.

Franklin Avenue Studied.
The Board discussed the proposed closing of Franklin Avenue in connection with the Borough's planned elementary school on Walnut Lane, near the high school.
An informal letter from Township Mayor R. Kenneth Fairman was read, setting forth the Township's opposition. The board is considering a traffic study of the roads in the area, to be undertaken by an independent organization.

STREET PLAN BACKED
By Residents of Jackson.
Jackson Street neighbors have voiced their approval of the Borough's plan to align the street with Wiggins. A letter of endorsement from a committee representing the First Baptist Church and the Map-witherspoon Street Area Citizens' Committee was presented to the Mayor and Council on Tuesday night.

The study group was composed of J. A. K. Saxon, George Holmes, John H. Grip-
per and Redman H. Marrow,
all of First Baptist; and Bryan
V. Moore, Sherman Bates, Edward Scavella and the Rev.
Alfred D. Tyson, Jr., of the John Witherspoon group.

A letter from the Chamber of Commerce was also read, urging that the work on Jackson Street be completed during the current year. The Mayor and Council authorized the Borough attorney, Gordon Griffin, to begin property negotiations with First Baptist Church and Palmer Square.
In the cost of the Jackson Street realignment will be included in the new budget.

Truck By-Pass. Assemblyman Edward J. Sweeney informed Council that he has introduced a new bill, "A-133,"
in the State Assembly calling for a truck by-pass around the highly populated areas in the route formerly known as "Route 206-A" has now been designated Route 31-A. It will run through Montgomery,
Franklin and South Brunswick

BOROUGH SCHOOL BALLOT DRAWN: Candidates John A.
Buckland (left) and Edward Hofstetter (center) received second and third positions respectively at the draw held Saturday by William H. Rhodes, secretary of the Board of Education. Absent candidates were Dr. Elmer G. Hornighausen, who won first listing, and Dr. Robert A. Lively, fourth listing on the ballot for the February 13 election.

Townships to U. S. 1.
Assemblyman Sweeney wrote that Borough Council and all interested residents asked to him in support of bill A-153
to Assemblyman Charles Farrington, and State Senator
Sido Ridofo.

"We need the letters to get the bill out of the Highway Committee. When the bill is passed, the appropriation is made, and then, finally, the exact route is settled," he told Council. He was promised full support.

Gas Station. Mayor Henry S.
Patterson alerted Council to the gas station application
pending before the Zoning Board. The Borough lost a battle in the courts against the application of Burnell Griggs to replace his restaurant at Witherspoon and Halls
Streets with a gas station.

Attorney Henry M. Stratton
suggested that the Mayor and Council be represented at the hearing, set for 8 p.m. January 24. "In a zoning proceeding,
the Mayor and Council is really an independent body which has a right to be heard."

The Mayor has also revealed that the Atlantic Refining Co.
is expected to renew its application for a service station at the corner of Nassau and Markham. The request for a variance was defeated after heated protests from affected residents in 1960.

MISS FINE'S SOAKED

Pipes Burst. Water pipes that burst in the New Year's cold-and-wind caused approximately $1,000 of property damage at Miss Fine's School, but classes resumed this Monday
after plumbers, electricians and carpenters worked around the clock to repair the damage and put the school in running order.

Most of the damage was done in the offices of Mrs. Alfred Busselle, assistant to the headmistress, and Miss Shirley Davis, headmistress, on the second floor of the building.
Pipes on the northern and northwest sides of the structure, one of them in an old iron pipe, laid outside with thin insulation, burst their seams and spread water into the science laboratory, then down through the walls to the first floor and into the basement.

Papers, files and mail, but nothing of an irreplaceable nature, were lost in the waters that flooded Mrs. Busselle's office. No scientific equipment was lost in the laboratory and no classroom equipment was damaged, according to Mrs.
Thelma Young, business manager.

The school was heated during the holiday period when classes were not in session, but only a minimal fustion, and not enough to withstand the low temperatures and winds of late December, Mrs. Young said.

Both Mrs. Young and Mrs.
Busselle expressed thanks to the workmen who "sacrificed
time and effort," in Mrs.
Young's words, to repair the damage in time for classes to resume.

From Santa Claus. Writing to his "dear friends and comrades in arms" in the phonetic typing he has used since he became blind, Henry "Santa Claus" Schultz this week expressed his thanks through TOWN TOPICS to everyone who took part in 1962's "Operation Santa Claus."

From December 4 until Christmas Eve, Mr. Schultz answered 1,090 telephone calls and talked to 1,913 boys and girls who wanted to place their orders for Christmas presents.

This year, newspapers in New Brunswick, Newark, Trenton and Philadelphia as well as in Princeton, carried the Santa Claus story and as a result, Mr. Schultz had calls from "many little children" throughout New Jersey and around the Philadelphia area. This was the 13th year that the 77-year-old Santa has sat by a telephone, answering its calls with "Hello! You are speaking to Santa Claus."

Objects to Sewer Plans.
To the Editor of Town Topics:
You made some deletions in my letter on the Hillside-206 Lucas-Herrington Road Sewer System as printed in last week's issue of TOWN TOPICS.

I wish to bring to the public's attention a salient fact: a year ago the Town Board either ignored or did not know of the water-sewer problem in the area when they granted a variance to permit a car wash.

At that time the residents and the Story-Brook Watershed Association pointed out the situation and the variance was tabled, and later turned down. This should be on the public record because it indicates the need for full public airing of all the facts. In view of this it seems very strange that suddenly a problem ignored or unknown a scant year ago has become the excuse for a fantastic sewer ordinance affecting the whole northern section of the Township directly, and indirectly the whole Township.

The Editor's note suggested that much of the Township cost would be deferred and assessed to future property owners. And this is precisely my point.

Has the Planning Board, have the Township residents fully considered the implications of putting in a sewer line now to be paid for by 300-500 "sewer houses"? Are we prepared to handle that rate of growth?

Should the sewage system be one that takes into account the geographical fact that the natural drainage of this area is in the direction of neighboring Montgomery Township? Or should we pay now for miles of force main which some engineers think is a very unsatisfactory solution?

Has the matter of the adequacy of the water table to support 300-500 more houses in the area been discussed? These are questions which can and should be fully studied now before work is undertaken on this project.

Why Water Co. Was Sald.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
Following is the text of a letter written to the governing bodies of the Borough and Township of Princeton.

"It has come to my attention that there is some public misunderstanding of the recent sale of Princeton University's stock in the Princeton Water Company.

In order to set the record straight, I put before the Mayor and Council of the Borough of Princeton and the Mayor and the Committee of the Township of Princeton the considerations leading to that sale.

"1) Water supply difficulties last spring brought to attention the plight of a small independent company, formed decades ago under University leadership to fill the needs of a village, now attempting to cope with the demands of a rapidly growing community. Study of the problem during the summer revealed the two most pressing needs of the company to be substantial infusion of new capital and continuous expert executive direction.

"2) These two elements—new capital and executive direction—are most readily available in large water companies. Accordingly, two such companies were approached, and each sent experts to survey the Princeton Water Company. The bids for the Princeton Water Company, which, with that of the Theological Seminary, comprise 53% of the total, were so close as to permit free selection between the two bidders. The Elizabethtown Water Company was selected on the basis of its record of 109 years' service in New Jersey, the rival company, while of comparable standing, operates nationally, and it was our opinion that the Princeton community might be better served by the New Jersey company.

"3) At no time has an official of any municipality asked me if the University's stock in the Princeton Water Company was for sale. Had such a question come up, reference would have been required to the New Jersey Constitution, which states, in effect, that no borough or township shall hereafter acquire or be the owner of accretions of any association or corporation. (Article 3, Section 3, Paragraph 2.)

"Let us hope that unnecessary delays will not hold back the preparatory work that must be done now if the Princeton community is to have an adequate water supply during the period of heaviest demand next summer.

"Furthermore, while the matter is under discussion, I suggest that it is fitting to recognize publicly the service which the directors and management of the Princeton Water Company have rendered to the community over the years at no profit to themselves."

Financial Vice President and Treasurer of the University

Person To Person

We are talking about slang expressions and a professor's acquaintance explained that many of the phrases that we assume are Americanisms originated hundreds of years ago in other countries. As an illustration, he said, "Hardly anything sounds more American than the saying, 'He paid through the nose,' meaning that he paid more than he should have, or 'got stung,' but there are records of this phrase being used as far back as 1672 in England, and that was not the beginning of it." Exactly how it originated is not known, but one theory is that it came from the Dunes. In the nineteenth century it seems that they imposed a head tax in Ireland that they called the "nose tax" and that anyone who didn't pay up had his nose slit. This could be called, "paying through the nose," or being stung for money. The phrase has become part of our language because just about everybody at times pays through the nose for something. The fellow who doesn't care WHERE he buys a car, just so long as it looks all right, or is of a particular model or make is really "asking for it." Where you buy a car is actually the only valuable guarantee you can get that you won't pay through the nose both at time of purchase and afterward. It is our pledged duty to protect you in your car purchase, for we know full well that your continued satisfaction is our greatest asset. Other similar courses include one on watercolor painting taught by Mrs. Robert Serrell and a continuation of a fall class on rug-hooking instructed by Mrs. Madeline Hutchinson of Williamite State Teachers College.

WANTS CAR-WASH

On Route 206, Saveria Mangione, whose application to build a car-wash on Route 206 was turned down by Township Committee last spring, will apply again to the Township Zoning Board when the board meets next Thursday. (See "Mailbox," page 14).

Mrs. Mangione's first application was made in December, 1961. At that time, the Zoning Board recommended to Township Committee that the application be approved, but Committee turned down the recommendation and told Mr. Mangione he couldn't build his car-wash. Water supply and sewage disposal problems in the area were the reasons for Committee's refusal.

Carter-Princeton Electronics will ask for a renewal of its variance to allow the assembly of products in its Alexander Street building.
The Zoning Board will also hear on Thursday the B. & D. Construction Company's request for a side-yard variance of six inches.

E. HORNSBY WASSON
PRESIDENT, NEW JERSEY BELL

Why New Jersey Bell is spending over $100 million for construction during 1963

Our state and nation's remarkable growth—and promising future—are creating an unprecedented demand for new telephone services. To help meet this need, New Jersey Bell has new construction projects under way in many parts of the state.

Some of these projects will cost more than a million dollars. Others involve only a few thousand. But every one of them is a part of the never-ending job of bringing more and better telephone service to you and your neighbors.

The total cost will be over $100 million—a big stimulus to the economy of New Jersey. It means more jobs—and more business—in many areas. In fact, almost every section of the state can be expected to benefit.

For example, in Succasunna a new Electronic Central Office is going up that will make new telephone services available to customers. A new dial office is under construction in Trenton. And a major addition is being made to the Telephone Central Office on William Street in Newark. These are just a few of the many projects on which that $100 million will be spent.

It takes a lot of money to bring telephone service to people—especially when it's the best phone service in the world. We're building to keep it that way.

A VOTE FOR THE POPE AND ADLAI: Louis Vendetti (left) goes along with Time magazine in choosing Pope John as Man of the Year. Mario Trani's choice is Adlai Stevenson.

Question of the Week

Question: Time magazine has named Pope John as its Man of the Year. Whom would you have chosen?

Where asked: Around town.

Louis Vendetti, Lawrenceville Road, postal carrier. I think I would choose Pope John, too. He's a very important man and he's never been named before. He's working for the good of humanity. That meeting he has called should have an effect all over the world.

Mario Trani, 247 Valley Road, bricklayer. Adlai Stevenson I feel he has done a great job in representing the United States at the United Nations. He showed that he wasn't afraid to stand up to the Russian delegates at the time of the Cuban situation. It takes an intelligent man to perform his job well and I feel he is one of our best statesmen.

Daniel Baugh, Lakeside Apartments, history teacher. Princeton University. Harold MacMillan. He's taken a rather bold, liberal step, in removing some of the dead wood from his cabinet. He's liberalized his cabinet at a time when there doesn't seem to be any serious opposition from the Labor Party. Also, he's taken a rash and perhaps unpopular step in facing negotiations for Britain's entry into the Common Market.

Mrs. Roland T. Ely, 144 Constitution Drive, housewife: Pope John, too. I was just reading that and thinking how wise Time's choice was. He's the world's greatest humanitarian and I feel he's made the outstanding contribution of the year. His calling of the Ecumenical Council gives us all, whether Protestant or Catholic, something positive to look forward to in the coming year.

Arthur Lithgow, Lakeside Apartments, member of the Princeton University English Department attached to McCarter Theatre. I agree with Time that was the outstanding choice. The calling of the Ecumenical Council, which was arranged through him, will have a more pronounced effect over more people over a longer period than any other single event of 1962. They don't have these Councils more than once every century, not even that often. I understand more than three years has been spent in preparation for this Council.

Mrs. Robert Ellis, 74 Einstein Drive, housewife: Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt. I admire her—and wholeheartedly—but I think she overcame a great many obstacles and lived a rewarding life.

Robert S. Smith, Ewing Township, elevator repair mechanic. There is no question that the Pope has done some outstanding things, but I think I would choose our own president. I think the way he handled the Cuban situation was outstanding. That was a very vital thing as far as the United States was concerned. I feel the president has done a good job in everything throughout the year.

Mrs. Grete Otis, Belts Meadow, housewife. Probably my husband. He's struggled very hard this year. He has changed jobs and he's done a good job all around.

John Davidovitch, New York City. As far as I'm concerned, I would choose U. Thant. I thought he worked harder for peace than anyone else throughout the year.

Mrs. R. H. Bing, 100 Einstein Drive, housewife: I think that is a pretty good choice myself. The Ecumenical Council that the Pope has called will stress peace and unity among all the churches of the world—things we are all striving for.

Kenneth House, South Bound Brook, charter pilot for Princeton Airport. President Kennedy. I think he was instrumental in getting the United States out of the Cuban crisis. I think he did a good job.

Miss Judy Kersenbrock, 95 Wilson Street, singer in the Robert Shaw Chorus. I think Time made a good choice but I feel President Kennedy should be on top of the list for the role he played in the settlement of the Cuban crisis.

Michel Shen, 71 Moran Avenue, graduate school, chemistry. I would choose the Pope, too. Since the Dark Ages, Christianity has been split, yet Protestantism and Catholicism are, basically, precisely the same in spirit, as far as religion is concerned. It is unfortunate since Christ taught us to love even our enemies that there is any dissension among fellow Christians. I think the move that the Pope has made, calling the Ecumenical Council, is a step toward unification and that this is more momentous than any other event.

Miss Judy Platten, Westcott Road, research department, Woodrow Wilson School. Well, I think President Kennedy deserves more credit than Pope John. I feel he has done a tremendous job in running the country. I don't know what would have happened if he wouldn't have happened if he—

TIGERS AT HOME AGAIN
For Two Ivy Games. Despite the fact that they have four Ivy League games in the next days—two of them against prime pennant contenders—Princeton's basketball forces are looking ahead to their return meeting with Penn on February 2. Having lost to the Quakers by three points before a roaring houseful of 9,250 Palestra fans, the Tigers are extremely anxious to have at them in Dillon Gym.
Before that, however, defending champion Yale and last-place Brown are on tap here this Friday and Saturday. A week later, a trip to Columbia and Cornell is on the schedule, and the Tigers must win the tough ones—Yale here and Cornell away—to keep in touch with Penn.

Elia Are Tall and Rugged. Friday night's contests is virtually certain to be one of those whistle-shrilling affairs in which close guarding and constant contact under the basket produce a steady parade to the foul line. Yale's big men (6-8 Steve Gaudin and 6-6 Dick Schumacher) are eager receivers under the boards; add to that is the increased number of personals every team Princeton plays commits Palestra to stop Bill Bradley. The Bulldogs were somewhat unexpected victors in last year's Ivy chase, compiling a lone 12-1 record when favored Penn and Princeton faltered with more experienced teams. Sharpshooter Buck Kaminsky, their big threat, is extremely agile, shoots well and is the Big Red bet to top 20 points in an evening. To top that, the Blue has won a home-and-home series from undermanned Brown, but has found the going much rougher against strong non-Ivy opposition, compiling a 3-6 record to date.

Brown, fifth in the Ivy chase in 1962 with a 6-8 mark, lost heavily through graduation and will do well to escape the cellar.

as this year's Captain Gen. Earth, a good big man, is their only major threat and the win any Ivy game into Dillon Gym with a 4-6 record.
Yale goes to the Palestra Saturday, scene of its lone Ivy defeat in last year's race. Tip-off on this year's winner will come when one or more of the four best bets (Cornell, Penn, Princeton, Yale) either fails to win any game at home or to defeat any of the probable tail-enders (Brown, Columbia, Dartmouth, Harvard) on the road. Belief here is that an 11-3 mark will be good enough for a share of first place.

Tigers Gave Too Much Away. If Princeton had started its fine second-half surge against Penn on Saturday from a point somewhere near even with the Quakers, it would have won going away. But despite the fact that they jammed home 18 points in less than six minutes while holding the Quakers to five, the great rally did not more than bring the Tigers even. From a 60-41 deadlock with 2:42 to go, Penn made five out of six free throws, was good enough defensively not to fall Princeton at all and won, 65-62.

Princeton may not be a one-man team—because Captain Art Hyland and classmate Bill Haarlow have consistently been in double figures this year—but the Tigers are certainly no better than a three-man team. Of the 728 points they have made to date, the top scorers have accounted for 568 of them—almost 80 percent! At the Palestra, a good part of the answer was that if this trio could not be stopped, no one else Princeton was worth worrying about.

Trouble came, too, from the fact that the Tigers had far and away their coldest night in field goal shooting. Going into the game with a great 48 percent average, they hit only 19 of 54 for a strictly routine 35 percent. Constantly harassed, Bradley made only six of 19, but again converted 14 of 18 free throws and maintained his superb average of 76 percent.

Penn was never behind after taking a 6-5 lead early in the evening. The Quakers had a 30-26 halftime advantage, largely because the Tigers went for a stretch of 11 minutes during which they made only a single field goal. They did, however, draw numerous fouls, converting 12 of 16, and causing such a turnover in the Penn lineup that four of the latter's five starters were on the bench well before the half ended.

Slow Start Costly. It was the first ten minutes of the second half that eventually saddled Princeton with a shade more than it could handle. Good play by the Quakers' Captain John Welford, Sam Amira and Jeff Sturm (the latter a highly valuable reserve who chipped in with 12 points) paced the home team to leads of 44-36 with 13 minutes to go and then 53-42 with eight minutes left. It was during this stretch that the officiating so upset Coach Bill Van Breda Koff. He says his comments to referee Steve Hanz resulted in a technical foul charged to the Tiger coach. Penn promptly converted the free throw to add to its margin.

Hyland and Haarlow got the drive under way. Bradley eluded it with a field goal and three free throws, the last creating a 60-41 tie with 2:43 on the clock. Thereafter, however, Amira made good on four fouls, sandwiching them around one by Ray Caruso. The last field goal came from Hyland on a quick break to narrow the margin to 63-62 with a minute and a half left. Shortly thereafter, the Tiger captain stole the ball and was away downcourt alone but the whistle nullified the play on a charging call. The officiating was displeasing to both coaches most of the evening, but it is rarely otherwise in a game decided by three points.

SKATERS LOSE TWO MORE
To Colgate and Williams in a two-day trip into New York and Massachusetts last week added another pair of defeats to the Princeton hockey team's record, saddling it with a 2-8 mark for the season. Colgate's better-than-average skaters won, 3 to 1, more or less as expected, but the 5-4 overtime loss to a lightly-regarded Williams sextet was a real shocker. The Tigers were scheduled to tour Army to visit rink at West Point Wednesday and head for Providence Saturday to meet Brown in a return match. They defeated the favored Bruins, 6-2, here last month but a repeat performance is unlikely. Next week will see a good St. Nicholas Hockey Club here Wednesday night and Cornell Saturday afternoon in the wrap-up before the examination break.

house court advantage jumped to a 17-8 margin at the end of the first quarter and led throughout. Again it was Princeton's cat-quick defense that dominated the game.

Time and again, Bill and Schmidt intercepted Frank's passes or stole the ball for easy layups or send the losers on the way to their second defeat in five contests. Schmidt was particularly effective in bottling up Franklin's top player, Baker, whom Borzok described as having "a fabulous touch."

"We got a little bit away from our regular defense and put Hank on Baker and had him play him no matter where he went," said Borzok. "Hank stayed with him 'til Baker fouled out. He got 10 or 12 points in the first half but then Hank got on to his moves and it was all over."

Against Hunterdon Central last Wednesday, PHS carried the art of defense to its quintessence. The Little Tigers limited the home team to just seven field goals for the entire contest to win their third straight, 34-22. "It was an unusual game, sometimes like old-time basketball," said Borzok.

Bright spot of the two most recent losses were three points credited to Johnny Cook, raising to 117 points his three-year career total. Two more will see him break the all-time Princeton record held by John McBride.

Cook delivered Princeton's only score against Colgate, the shot at 11:27 of the second period bringing the Tigers even. That deadlock lasted just ten seconds, however, the victors going on to raise their season's record to a remarkable 8-1.

Fifty-four minutes in penalties proved more of a handicap than the team could overcome at Williamstown. Two of these were misconducts; 19 seconds of the two minute variety, an extremely high total.

Pony Fraker and George Peterson scored for the Tigers, and Cook's second goal brought Princeton even shortly before regulation time ended. At 3:42 of the ten-minute sudden-death round about half gone, the home team scored for

PHS WINS FAIR

To Climb to 4-0. To the familiar adage that nothing succeeds like success, Princeton High School basketball coach Tony Borzok must feel like adding, "or like a team that is determined to win."

To overcome a lack of experience and a lack of height, the Little Tigers have combined a fierce determination to win, superb conditioning and a solid defense. So successful has this formula been for PHS is that it has yet to be defeated. "They're a team now," said Borzok after his squad had registered its fourth straight. "Everyone is pulling for just one thing—and that's to win."

If Princeton High's bubble is to burst, it will quite likely happen Tuesday evening when it meets Steiwert High School. The contest will start at 7:30 and will be held at the Steiwert gymnasium. For the Little Tigers, it will be their fifth consecutive road game, with two more to come before they return home.

The Steiwert clash will rank as the Blue and White's stiffest test of the season for two reasons: 6-5 Matt Cronin and 6-4 Bill Smith. If PHS can overcome the decided height advantage the Spartans will carry into the contest, then its followers may well switch from asking, how well Princeton do this season, to who is going to stop the Blue and White?

Franklin Township Falls. Larry Madden scored 16 points for PHS and Frank Baker scored 16 for Franklin Township, the home team, but Madden received much more support from his teammates as the Little Tigers rolled up their biggest point total of the season to defeat Franklin on Friday, 60-42. For Princeton, captain Hank Schmidt, Dave Hill and Jimmy Case each scored eight points and John Kowalski added nine more to share in the scoring honors.

points is not uncommon, the statistics of this encounter border on the hazy. Each team made just two points in the second period. PHS led at the half, 11-10. The losers' hush in any one period was eight.

Central Puzzled. "I think they were puzzled by our defense," said Borzok. Though Borzok felt Central may have mistaken Princeton's defense for a man-to-man, it was a box zone employed by PHS that held the home team offense to ineffective long range shots.

In the second half, the Little Tigers switched to a deliberate attack and hit more than enough baskets to win. The leaders of this attack were the Blue and White's one-two scoring machine, Madden and Schmidt. Madden led all scorers with ten. Schmidt trailed with seven.

Not unexpectedly, Borzok continues to be well-pleased with the performances of his team. And there are signs that PHS is still in process of becoming an even better, more efficient team.

"The kids have opened up a little more. Their shooting percentage is much better, particularly from the foul line. They're really jelling now—getting to know each other's moves which makes it easier."

Borzok further reported that his players are getting their timing down to the point where PHS may not be as vulnerable to a taller team as was once thought. "We've been able to protect our own bas-

LEADING SCORER: Princeton High School's Larry Madden is the leading scorer for the Little Tigers with 55 points in the first four games, ket," said Borzok. "Kowalski and Case have got their timing down to where they have been able to take the ball away from taller players. It's all a question of timing," he added. The accent on defense will continue, according to Borzok. "The kids are sold on it. We have to stay with that." By playing with defense, PHS is moving steadily in the right direction.

ASBURY DEFEATED AGAIN

By Sannino A. C. For the second time within a week, the Asbury Park YMCA basketball team found Sannino A. C. too much to handle. Sannino defeated the shore quintet in a return contest Thursday at the Princeton High School gymnasium, 86-68.

The two teams battled on even terms for the first three periods with Sannino holding a slim, three-point margin at the three-quarter mark. Then, at the start of the final period, Sannino's Bob Cooper found the range and hit for ten points to break the game wide open. The victors went on to outscore the collapsing visitors two-to-one in the period. Approximately 100 Sannino followers witnessed the encounter.

Larry Ivan, who played two years of varsity basketball for the University of Oklahoma, and Bob Kehoe, former all-state performer for Princeton High School and Lawrenceville, kept Sannino in contention during the first half. Hitting mostly on one-handed jumpers, Ivan scored 16 points and Kehoe pumped in several long shots.

A major contributor to the Sannino victory, indeed in all of Sannino's consecutive victories this season, was Carl Belz. The former Princeton University standout and All-League choice was outstanding in rebounding and scored at least six points in every period, except the second. His steady marksmanship enabled Carl to the Ivan for scoring honors with 20 points apiece. Other double-figure performances were turned in

Has Perfect Record. The Sannino squad is one of the finest to represent the Princeton area in many years. It is currently leading the Princeton YMCA and Industrial League with a 6-0 record. In compiling its perfect record, Sannino has been averaging more than 100 points per game.

Other members of the powerful club include Jack Pretrone, long active in both baseball and softball; Bill and Charlie Stryker, former PHS stars; and Ray Tamasi, who holds the record for the most points (38) scored in a single game in the YMCA-Industrial League. Dick Cooper has played against many respected teams, including the Harlem Magicians.

Its player-coach is Danny Sculeri. He reports that Sannino will meet another undefeated shore team Thursday night at 8:30 at the PHS gym. The squad resumed play in the YMCA League Wednesday, opposing RCA Astro for the first time.

How is interest figured on your savings account? The method can be more important than the rate. Study this chart. Why this tremendous difference in interest over just one quarterly period? Because, when your savings earn DAILY INTEREST, they earn interest from the day of deposit to the day of withdrawal—not just on the low balance during the calendar quarter. And, at First Trenton, 3% interest is compounded every three months. This interest then starts earning DAILY INTEREST, too!

MUSIC In Princeton

VIOLIN RECITAL GIVEN
By Ruggiero Ricci. On Monday evening at McCarrie Theatre, Series 1 of the Princeton University Concerts presented the violinist Ruggiero Ricci and the pianist Leon Fommers in sonatas by Brahms No. 2, A major, Beethoven No. 8, major, and Prokofiev No. 1, F minor. In addition, Mr. Ricci played two works for violin solo: the Hindemith Sonata, Op. 31, No. 2, and Paganini's Variations on the Paisiello at "Nel cor più non m'incanto."

If one limits one's remarks to Mr. Ricci's playing, taken in its own terms, the report is not unfavorable. His technique is satisfactory, although by no means perfect; there was some remarkable execution, especially in the Paganini, although doubtless some of this is designed to look more difficult than it is, but there were also patches of poor intonation and, particularly at lower volume levels, some uneven tone quality.

The program, too, spoke well of the violinist's intentions, although neither of the modern works could be described as masterpieces. Hindemith's Sonata was the briefer of the two, but the more effective, ending with a set of arbitrary variations on the poor, defenseless "Komm, lieber Mai" of Mozart. Prokofiev's First Sonata offers not as much from its paucity of invention as from its strong tendency to say everything twice and then to repeat the last few words several times again, as if to make sure that they are heard.

The crux of the matter, however, comes with the Beethoven and Brahms Sonatas — and these remarks apply to nearly every violin and cello recital that has been given in McCarrie Theatre in recent years. Monday's recital is by no means unique in this respect. If the purpose of these concerts is to include the proper performance of the ductus of such works by Mozart, Beethoven, Schumann, Brahms, etc., this purpose is not likely to be achieved by a virtuoso fiddler whose musically inclined audience is a journeyman pianist. There is simply no point to these shapeless performances with which we are presented year after year in this repertoire; the music is for two equal performers, and it should be clear that equal care (and, quite probably, equal fee) will have to be expended in the hiring of those performers if a satisfactory musical experience is to result.

Not surprisingly, the evening's most satisfactory performance was the Paganini Variations, although, for some reason, the audience was more amused than impressed by scores included Kreisler's "Sicilienne et Rhapsodie," two Bartók "Rumanian Dances," and the Paganini "Sicilienne."

PROF. FORBES TO SPEAK
In Westminster Chapel, Elton Forbes, professor of music at Harvard University, will speak in the Westminster Choir College Chapel on Tuesday, at 8 p.m.

Director of Harvard's glee club, he will lecture on the "Revision of Thayer's Life of Beethoven." Mr. Forbes is the editor of a new edition of the composer's biography scheduled for publication in 1964.

The lecture is open to the public free of charge. Cards for admission may be obtained from the president's office at Westminster.

AMATEURS TO SING
Vivaldi, Schütz. Works by Vivaldi and Schütz will be on the program when members of the Princeton Society of Musical Amateurs gather Sunday at 5 in the gymnasium of Miss Fine's School.

The group, under the direction of Barbara Lewis for this session, will sing Vivaldi's "Gloria" and "The Psalm" by Schütz. Stephen Pruslin will be the pianist and Laura Hayes, soprano, and Jean

RUGGIERO RICCI

Chorley, contralto, will be soloists. Anyone who wishes to attend and to sing may do so. The Society has asked that reservations for music and refreshments be made with Mrs. Mackenty Bryan, WA 4-0453, between 2 and 5 p.m.

WEINRICH TO PLAY
In All-Bach Program. Carl Weinrich, University chapel organist, will give a recital in memory of Helena Woolworth McCann Sunday at 3:30 in the University Chapel. Mrs. McCann gave the University the chapel organ.

The program will be based entirely on the works of Bach and will consist of the Concerto in A minor, No. 2; the Trio-Sonata in C major, No. 3; four chorale-pretudes: "An Wasserflüssen Babylon," "Wir glauben all an einen Gott," "Dies sind die heiligen zehn Gebot," and "Lobbet Jesu, wir sind hier." The Prelude and Fugue in E flat major.

During January, Mr. Weinrich will give recitals and conduct master classes in Hartford, Conn.; Youngstown, O.; and Duke University, Durham, N. C. In February, he will travel to Colorado and to California for concert engagements.

PRO MUSIC TO APPEAR
With Renaissance Music. The New York Pro Musica Motet and Choir and Wind Ensemble under Noah Greenberg will present a concert Monday at 8:30 in Alexander Hall under the auspices of the Advisory Council for the Princeton University Department of Music and the Friends of Music at Princeton.

The program will consist of music for the Mass of the Nativity of the Virgin Mary by Heinrich Isaac and Josquin des Pres. Admission to the concert is by invitation, but seats remaining in Alexander Hall at 8:20 will be made available to the public.

TO PLAY HARBISON WORK

In Symphony Orchestra. "Song for Soprano and Small Orchestra" by the Princeton composer, John Harbison, will be presented by the Princeton Symphony Orchestra at the orchestra's second concert of the season to be held January 26 at 8 p.m. at McCarrie Theatre. Sheila Marks will sing the soprano solo and Mr. Harbison will conduct his own composition. The remainder of the program, to be conducted by Nicholas Harsanyi, will consist of Schubert's Overture to "Rosamunde," the Greig Piano Concerto with William Masselos as soloist and Hayden's Symphony No. 46 in D.

The Harbison work has been scheduled in place of a composition by Arno Safran, which will be heard at the April 13 concert.

Tickets will be on sale at the University Store beginning Monday, and at McCarrie Theatre on the evening of the concert.

News Of The CHURCHES

TRENDS IN THE CHURCH

(Second in a series of commentaries by three Princeton clergymen. Dean Ernest Gordon of the Princeton University Chapel, President James L. McCord, Princeton Theological Seminary, and the Rev. Kenneth S. Dannenbauer, director of the Princeton Pastors' Association.)

Two Perspectives. "The state of the Church," observes President James L. McCord of the Theological Seminary, "can only be assessed from two perspectives."

"In the first place, the Church is God's creation and lives by a life that is not her own. She is that against which the gates of hell shall not hold out, she is the anvil that has worn out many hammers."

"But, the Church is also to be understood sociologically, as well as theologically, and at the beginning of 1963, one can ask concerning her state in America."

"Any answer will inevitably be complex. Business continues to be the good in the Church. Membership and stewardship grow."

"Still, the Church's influence on the thought and life of the nation has not increased commensurately. It may have actually declined."

The Church's Silence. "And if this is so, then the reason must surely be the Church's silence in areas of great social need, and her spirit of casual rather than the spirit which she once had when she turned the world upside down."

It should be clear by this time that only a Church with a radical faith and a willingness to translate this into life has any chance of continuing influence in a culture that will become increasingly secular and alien from the presuppositions of old Christendom. This leads to the last point in this assessment: It is only in America today that the Church has the resources for such a breakthrough. It may be that 1963 will determine whether she has the courage to use these resources for that end."

Next Week: Mr. Dannenbauer

TO ATTEND CONFERENCE

On Racial Equality. Two Princetonians are delegates to the National Conference on Religion and Race which opens Monday in Chicago.

Mrs. David Saunders of 447 Walnut Lane and John S. Yost of 150 Loomis Court are among the 30 representatives of the United Presbyterian Church in the USA, which has a membership of three-and-a-half million members. Both are members of First Presbyterian Church.

The conference is sponsored by the National Council of Churches, the Roman Catholic Welfare Conference and the Synagogue Council of America. Its purpose is to further the cause of racial equality.

Mr. Yost will participate in the forum entitled "Inner Cause of the Church and Synagogue." Mrs. Saunders will present the suburban neighborhood.

"The Role of Church and Synagogue in a Racially Changing Community."

Mrs. Saunders is a member of the Princeton Housing Group which helped eight Negro families find homes in the community. She played a role in the establishment of two inter-racial housing developments, "Maplecrest" in Princeton Township and "Glen Acres" in West Windsor Township. A resident of Maplecrest says, "I am probably the youngest in my generation. I am a white and is deeply involved in the practical relationships of inter-racial living." She reports that Maplecrest now has 20 white families and five Negro families in residence. Glen Acres has nine white and six Negro families.

Mr. Yost, a chemical engineer, is an elder at First Presbyterian and superintendent of the church school, which numbers nearly 400 children. He has also been active in the Princeton Housing Group, and has promoted many joint activities with the Witherspoon Street Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. Saunders and Mr. Yost are strong supporters of the "open occupancy" covenant advocated by the Presbyterian General Assembly. In 1957 the Princeton Church then under the ministry of the Rev. John Bodo, was the first in the nation to sign the covenant. The covenant was put to the congregation again last year by the pastor, Dr. Donald M. Meisel. Each time, 25 percent of the congregation responded favorably. The covenant, in essence, re-affirms the dignity of all men. Supporters agree to welcome newcomers to their neighborhoods regardless of race, creed or color, and to sell their property on the open market without prejudice.

FIVE FOR FIVE FOR PHS

Hightstown Beaten Again. Despite unbeaten record, Hightstown basketball team fell in the first and last periods, Princeton High School's basketball team kept its unbeaten record intact Tuesday with a 36-32 victory at Hightstown.

The victims of Coach Tony Borzok's quietest last month, the Little Tigers to a four-point margin in the home-of-home-court surroundings.

With high-scoring Larry Madden blanked for the evening, the Little Tigers could produce only five points in the first eight minutes and when both teams tallied ten in the second quarter, Hightstown took an 18-15 lead to the dressing room.

The intermission provided the needed opportunity to put the dormant offense in motion, and Captain Hank Schmidt scored a third-quarter shot that was good for 19 points. As the final round began, PHS enjoyed a 34-26 lead.

It was just as well, for the last quarter saw an even greater lapse on the attack than the first. The visitors managed just two points, but an adequate defense held Princeton to one point, leaving the Little Tigers with their final four-point margin and assuring victory number five. Schmidt's 11 in the evening made him the only player on either team to make it into double figures.
